

Equipment List for Gillespie/Rabbit Pass Trek - 8 days

Summer weather is usually quite warm. However, these are remote mountain routes and winter type conditions can happen any time of year. We can only attempt this route if everyone has suitable protective clothing. You will need to carry your own personal gear but do not need to carry food, tents or other group gear. Many people prefer to use their own sleeping bag, sleeping pad and backpack, or if you wish you can hire one of ours. We recommend a self inflating sleeping mat, 50 litre backpack and a 2 season sleeping bag rated down to 0°C (and silk liner). On most days there are unavoidable river and stream crossings, so it is likely your boots will get wet and stay wet.

We usually camp out the first two nights (or use nearby huts if weather is bad), then stay at pre-stocked huts and/or preplaced camps. We rendezvous with a jet boat on day three, where we pick up fresh food and drop off the sleeping bags and sleeping pads since you do not need to carry them after this. Your pack is a little lighter, which is just in time since the mountains are getting bigger!

Below is a list of required equipment. Further detail is available in the equipment detail information accessed from the Gillespie/Rabbit Pass page on www.aspiringguides.com. If you have any questions about the clothing list, please be sure to contact us at action@aspiringguides.com.
